As the first laptop university in the country, U of M Crookston has been shining light on technology for 20 years. Now, using immersive visualization and multiuser interfaces, students can simulate a flood, examine tissues in the human body, or design a play space for children. See highlights at www.umcrookston.edu.